(Девушки свистят и танцуют вокруг Розалии.)
(The girls whistle and dance around Rosalia.)

The first system of musical notation consists of a vocal line and a piano accompaniment. The vocal line is in a single staff with a treble clef, featuring a melody with eighth and sixteenth notes, some with accents. The piano accompaniment is in two staves (treble and bass clefs) with a grand staff bracket. It includes a tempo marking mf ritmico in the left hand. The key signature has three flats (B-flat, E-flat, A-flat).

The second system continues the musical piece. The vocal line has a long melisma (a single note held for an extended duration) in the first half, followed by more active melody. The piano accompaniment features complex chordal textures and rhythmic patterns in both hands.

The third system shows further development of the melody and accompaniment. The vocal line continues with melisma and active passages. The piano accompaniment maintains a driving, rhythmic feel with dense harmonic support.

The fourth system is the final one on the page. It concludes the musical phrase with a final melisma in the vocal line and a sustained harmonic texture in the piano accompaniment.

The musical score is arranged in five systems. Each system consists of two vocal staves (A. and A.) and a piano accompaniment (piano). The vocal parts feature whistling, indicated by the notation ) (свистят) (whistling)*. The piano accompaniment includes a variety of rhythmic patterns and dynamic markings, including dim. (diminuendo) and mf ritmico (moderato-forte, ritmico). The key signature is two flats (B-flat and E-flat). The score is written in a standard musical notation with notes, rests, and other musical symbols.

First system of musical notation. The treble staff features a melodic line with a long slur spanning several measures. The piano accompaniment consists of a steady eighth-note bass line in the left hand and chords in the right hand.

Second system of musical notation. The treble staff includes a glissando (gliss.) marking. The piano accompaniment features a more active bass line with some triplets. A fortissimo (ff) dynamic marking appears in the right hand.

Third system of musical notation. The treble staff contains a series of chords, some with glissando markings. The piano accompaniment continues with a consistent eighth-note bass line.
